Rathinam College of Pharmacy organized a Guest Lecture on the theme "Advances in Hepatology and Liver Transplantation" on 12th March 2026 at the Examination Hall. The session aimed to enhance the knowledge of students and faculty members in the field of liver diseases, their management, and recent developments in transplantation techniques. The resource persons for the event were Dr. Hemamala Ilango, Consultant Hepatologist from Royal Care Hospital, and Dr. Ilango Sethu. They shared their expertise and provided valuable insights into the latest advancements in hepatology, including diagnostic approaches, treatment modalities, and innovations in liver transplantation.

Dr. Hemamala Ilango elaborated on the increasing prevalence of liver disorders, the importance of early diagnosis, and modern therapeutic strategies. Dr. Ilango Sethu highlighted the procedural aspects, challenges, and success rates associated with liver transplantation, along with patient care and post-transplant management. The lecture was highly informative and interactive, with students actively participating in the discussion session. The speakers addressed queries and encouraged students to explore career opportunities in hepatology and clinical research. A total of 10 staff members and 120 B.Pharm students attended the session, making it a successful and enriching academic event.
